FLORENCE, December 15 .- The Italian Parliament has assembled and the session been opened by a royal speech. In his address to the Legislature, King Victor Emanuel says that he will, as a ruler of the kingdom of Italy, respect the inviolability of the Pontifical territory.

His malesty, as exponent of the national will, added that he wished his Holiness, Pope Pius IX, tofremain independent of Rome.

National Joy, Liberty, Conciliation, and a Glorious Future.

FLORENCE, December 15.—The King of Italy opened the National Parliament on Saturday. In his speech he wished Italy joy of the free fom she had gained. He said that France, faithful to her promises, had withdrawn from Rome, and that the best and that the best understanding existed between Italy and Napole'sn. He declared that he would respect the territory of the Papal States. He hoped that the moderation of the Italian people and the wisdom of the Pope, and a spirit of conciliation on both sides, would remove all differences, and said it was his wish that the Popular to Rome The Pope should remain independent in Rome. The King concluded by reterring to the great and glorious future Italy had before her, and declared that she must, by every means, develop her resources to achieve her position as a great nation. The speech of the King was well received by the members of the Parliament,

ALLEGED LOTTERY FRAUD IN NEW YORK

A Man Loses Thirty Thousand Dollars on "Policy Slips"—Hon. John Morris-sey and Hon. Ben. Wood, with Others, Named in the Order of Arrest, Etc.

SUPERIOR COURT—CHAMBERS—Before Judge Moneil—An order has been issued by Justice Moneil on the application of Charles S Spencer, of counsel, for the arrest of John Morrissey, Jonn A. Morris, William C. France, Charles H Murray, Z. E. Simmons, William L. Simmons, Jacob Bauch, David L. Reed, Benjamin Wood, Jacob Bluvelt, John McGee, Antonio Nathan, William Ward, William Craft, E. W. Hulse, and Oscar Clark, all of whom the Sheriff is directed to hold to bai in the sum of $8000 each.

The order of arrest was granted on the affidavit of Nelson B. Odell a cooper in West inneteents.

The order of arrest was granted on the affidavit of Nelson B. Odell, a cooper in West inneteenth street, near Tenth avenue, who deposes that during the two years last past he has lost the sum of $35,000 at different lottery and policy shops kept and maintained by the above defendants, of which sum $19,000 was lost at the shop kept by Jacob Blauvelt, at No 720 Washington street; $9000 in the shop kept by John McGee, at No. 138 Seventh avenue; $8000 at the shop of A. B. Nicholson, Nos. 98 Vesey street and 2; Dey street; $1000 at the shop of one Nathan, No. 176 Broadway; $1000 at the shop of Wm. Craft. No. 176 Broadway; $1000 at the shop of Wm. Craft, No. 57 Whitehall street; $2000 at the shop of E. W. Hulse, No. 188‡ Greenwich street, and $1000 at No. 2 Fulton street; and he charges that the above defendants were interested in the aloresaid winnings from deponent. He further deposes that the sum; so lost by him were on policies sold to him by defendlost by him were on policies sold to him by defendants, known as "lottery policy slips" purporting to be decided by the drawings or the "Kentucky State Lottery" and "Shelby College Lottery, of Kentucky," which he alleges are "owned, managed, controlled, manipulated, and cooducted by the first ten defendants" above named. That "deponent is informed, and believes, and expects to be able to prove, that said drawings of said Kentucky lotteries, instead of having hear lawfully and instead. instead of having been lawfully and lairly drawn for the decision of the numbers of said slips, so by him purchased, have been falsely and fraudulently drawn, during the outire period in which said defendants obtained, as aforessid, the $35,000 of this diponent's money, or, when regularly drawn, have teen to solv and trandy onthe proposession and other been ia sely and fraudu ently suppressed, and other num ers, which had not been drawn, falsely inserted in the place, with the view of cheating and de-frat fing this deponent and other persons who made sim ar purchase of slips from the defendants afore-Deponent then describes in his affidavit some of the "tricks and devices" resorted to by defendants to effect these false and fraudulent drawings, such as the employment of one Lewis Davis to superin-tend the drawing in Kentucky, and to telegraph in eipher the result to defendants, who compared them with the numbers on the policy slips sold by them; and if the drawing "were found to infict losses on said owners and managers, they wilfully, deliberately, wickedly, falsely, and fraudently changed and altered the said numbers so drawn in Kentucky, and replaced them by other numbers which were in agreement with the interests of such owners and managers"

Another "trick and device," he deposes, was to exclude from the observation of the drawing all persons not in the interest of the said owners and managers, and to "stock" the rooms where said managers, and to "stock" the rooms where sale drawings were made with myrmidons and agents o their own; that one of the parties thus employed to prevent the intrusion of the public upon the false drawings was John K. Briggs, who on one occasion, acting under orders of the owners and managers of the drawing, suspended a drawing for the avowed reason that said drawing should not be witnessed by any person who was not connected with or in the interest of said owners and managers.

nessed by any person who was not connected with or in the interest of said owners and managers.

Appended to the affidavit of Nelson B. Odell is an affidavit of one Nelson Ferris, who deposes that after having sustained heavy losses in the purchasing of "policy slipe," he was provided on one occasion by one of the managers of the Kentucky lotteries, with a key to a cipher used by them in transmitting the results of the drawing by telegraph, and instructed to go to Albany with the understanding that he should be furnished in advance of the draw structed to go to Albany with the understanding that he should be furnished in advance of the drawing with the numbers which were to appear as having been legitimately drawn; that he went to Albany according to instructions, and while there received, in advance of the time advertised for the drawing, the numbers, in cipher, that were to appear as having been drawn, and that with this information he purchased policy sips of John A. Hall, No. 3 Beaver street, and one Rosecrans. No. 16 Exchange Place, Albany; that the three numbers purchased by him as aforesaid app ared, duly certified by the Commissioners, as having been drawn, and that he was paid by Rosecrans the sum of $100, that being the amount of the risk taken by him, he (Rosecrans) supposing at the time of taking the risk that the drawing had not been decided. — N. brokers, doing business at No. 8 Wall street, had been swindled out of $10,000 by the dishonesty of a young man lately in their employ. It appears from the information obtained last night, that on Wednesday last the above-named firm sent a young man in their employ, about sixteen years of age, but whose name is at present withkeld, to deposit in a certain bank a $20,000 gold bond. It is alleged that in place of the young man proceeding to the bank be went to a saleon near by, where he made a false entry of the deposit in the bank book, forging the name of the receiving teller.

He then returned to the office and returned the bank book, and soon after left the establishment, since which time nothing has been seen or heard of him. Yesterday morning his employers, thinking his long abrence rather strange, sent a messenger to his father's, where the young man resided, but his whereabouts could not be ascertained. His father had presumed that he was visiting some relations in this city, but upon inquiry nothing had been seen of him. Yesterday afternoon the above firm sent their usual deposits to the bank, when the forgery was discovered. The officers immediately suspected their absent clerk, and last evening lodged information at the Police Headquariers. The young man is said to have lately been seen in company with another young man about the same age, and it is presumed they have both gone off together. No clue as to their whereabous have as yet been ascertained.

THIRD EDITION

To the New York Associated Press. Narnville, December 16.—A great storm reached here Saturday, with heavy rain, light wines, and an attempt at snow. The telegraphic communication east and south was interrupted or suspended for eighteen hours, but it is all right now.

General Thomas and staff arrived here Saturday morning at 5 o'clock. They proceeded to the Stavy Mouse, and were formally received by the Legislative Joint Committee. The day was so inclement that the published programme of the procession was abandoned. At 11 30 o'clock the party repaired to the Capitol in carriages through the principal streets. The Capitol was gorgeously decorated with iestoons of evergreens and flags, the guidons and the colors belonging to Tennesse regiments, which they had brought through the Mexican war and against rebellion. The flights of stains leading to the second story of the legislative hall were similarly adorned. General Thomas was conducted to the Speaker's seat amidst vociferous cheering, tovernor Brownlow and Senator Grierson, the Speaker of the Senate, were sented on the left, the latter being chosen President of the assemblage.

After prayer by the Rev. Dr. Allen, the Legislative Committee on Resolutions reported the following resolutions, which were unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That the Legislature of Lennessee, flied with the most profound gratitude to a ards their distinguished guest, an ajor-deneral George H. Resolved, That the loyal men of fennessee, emulating the example of patriotism and devotion to laws restored to them by the galant detenders of the Union, pledge their support anew to the cause of treedom humanity, and progress.

After the congratulatory address, followed by a band playing 'Haul to the Chief,' Governor Brownlow presented the gold meda, I with these remarks:

nowever, or my sincele appreciation of these honors, and particularly the compilments which have been awarded to the officers and soldars who participated with me in defeating the enemy two years ago this day at Nashville.

"Some twenty years ago I received my diploma at the Military Academy, and soon after a commission in the army. On receiving that commission. I took the oath to assistan the Constitution of the United States and Government, and to obey all the officers of the Government blaced over me. I have taithfully endeavored to keep that oath, as a solemn pledge on my part to return to the Government some little service for the great benefit I had received in obtaining my education at the Academy. (Renewed applause.) While I cannot venture to speak of the brave soldiers and officers who at the commencement of the late war voluntarily came forth from the private war. So of lile, and devoted their lives to the detense of the Government established by our fathers (Applause.) It has been my pleasure on all occasions to wincess the devotion of our army, and take prade in asying that no other country on earth ever produced such another army as that which as semiled to put down the Releihon (Applause.) It has seen my closure of the war of our repeating, or at least justify some flag to the control of the such as a semiled to put down the Releihon (Applause.) "This further delayed us some four or five days but finally, about the 12th of December, the preparations being made, the order of battle was explained to the commanders, and everything prepared for the conflict the next morning. Through the bad weather, waich still continued we were delayed until the 15th of December. On that day General Steedman, with a small force of convalescents and men who had been on parole, partially organized, commenced the battle on the left, so as to occupy the attention of the enemy, who appeared entirely to forget the other portion of his line, and concentrated heavily at that point, evidently expecting the battle there.

"This was expected in my programme; and after General Steedman had opened the battle, and had been engaged about half an hour, our troops were moved into their respective positions, and almost like men on review, took post after post, and drove the enemy to the hills. (Cheers.)

'Major-General Thomas, the pleasant duty devolves upon me to present you, on this interesting occasion, an elegant gold medal, voted to you nearly a year ago by the General Assembly of Teunessee, whose members, both Senators and Representatives, now surround you. Although this medal is the first article of the kind yet executed in America its value to you does not consist in the smount of precious metal it contains, in the exquisite workmanship of art, but in the motives which prompted the girt, and the patriotic source from which it originates. It is intended to express the high regard in which you are held by the toyal Tennessee Legislature as a mill say chieftain and tried and devoted patriot, and a modest, unassuming gentleman.

'General in no sofrit of fla tery i must be permitted to say to you, that in the great stringgle of four years which recently convulsed has nation, of milltary commar ders, you are, perhaps, the only one who never lost a oattle, and in the gove mment of armics and departments never made mistakes.

"There is something appropriate in the presentation of this medal to-day, and in this capital on the anniversary of the battle of Nashville. Two years ago to-day at the head of a gallaritarmy, you were engaged in candiventially conflict with the enemies of your country around this city, and two years ago to morrow, you closed that conflict, and saved this city from ruin, and sending out the hordes of treason howlers into Dixie, away down South. The Dixie portion of the enemy remained to receive, at your hands, their long-lost rights, the only right that traitors are entitled to, faneral rites.

'Trusting that you may never have occasion to command another army on the field of carnage, and that you may live long to enjoy the funis of victory you have contributed to achieve, I hand this medal over to one who will never dishoner it."

Eminest Southerners with the President-The Adjournment and the Negro Suffrage Bill-A Queer Report from South Carolina.

SPECIAL DESPATCHES TO EVENING TELEGRAPH. WASHINGTON, December 17.

The North Carolina Commission. Governor Worth, Chief Justice Ruffin, and Hon.
D. R. Swain, of North Garolina, were at the White House this morving, to have an interview with the Fresident, to protest against General Sickles' order prohibiting the infliction of corporeal punishment by the courts. They are also upon the commission appointed by the North Carolina Legislature to see is better terms cannot be obtained from Congress than those offered in the Constitutional amendment.

The Holidays and Congress. The Holidays and Congress.

It is not certain but that Congress will reconsider its vote to adjourn over the holidays, as it is held by some that such an adjournment may defeat the District Negro Suffrage bill, as, should the President send in a veto, there would be no Congress in session to receive it within the constitutional period. Can it Bo !

Mr. Dawes, of Massachusetts, has called the atten-tion of the President to the allegation that a citizen of Massachusetts is imprisoned in South Carolina, on the charge of being a Union spy. The President immediately telegraphed an order to General Sickles for a strict investigation.

Senate.

A communication was received from the Secretary of War, in response to a resolution asking if the Commissioners, provided for by an act of 1864, for the payment of loyal owners of enlisted slaves, have been appointed, etc.

The communication was accompanied by a report, which was reterred to the Committee on Military Affairs.

Mr. Summer presented the proceedings of a recen meeting of loval citizens, without regard to color, teld at Norfolk, Va., asking for the reorganization of the Government of Virginia.

Mr. Saulebury, of Delaware objected, that, under the rule of the Senate, the proceedings of a public meeting could not be received unless they came in the form of a memorial.

Mr. Summer, of Massachusette, said this was not simply the proceedings of a meeting. It was in the nature of a petition.

The question of the reception of the document was referred to the Committee on Reconstruction.

Mr. Wade (Ohio) presented a petition for the reannexation of the city and county of Alexandria, Virginia, to the District of Columbia. Ordered to lie on the table.

Under the call of States for resolutions,
Mr. Washburne (III.) offered a resolution, directing the select committee on the New Orleans riot to investigate the alleged frauds in the New Orleans Custom House, and the appointment of Rebels therein to the exclusion of Union men, and into all matters connected with the administration of affairs in that Custom House.

Mr. Harding (III.) offered the following:—Resolved. That the House of Representatives of the Congress of the United States will give unfallering support to the Executive Department of the Government to vindicate the time-honored policy of this republic against foreign armed intervention, which tends to the destruction of constitutional liberty on this continent, and especially commend the tone of the national voice in reference to the republic of Mexico. Adopted.

Mr. Cook (III.) offered the following:—

Resolved. That the Committee on Banking and Currency be instructed to inquire into the expediency of providing by law, for the withdrawai of the currency issued by the National Banks, as fast as the same may be done without injustice to the banks, and of supplying the place of such currency with legal-lender notes issued by the Government of the United States.

Mr. Cook (III) moved the previous question, on which Mr. Brandegee demanded tellers.

Mr. Brandegee called for the yeas and nays, saying he wanted to see who was in favor of destroying the national banks. The yeas and nays were taken, and resulted—yeas, 65; nays) 18. So the resolution was rejected.

Mr. Ross (Ill.) offered the following:—

Resolved, That it is the sense of Congress that no more Government bonds shall be issued that are not surject to the same rates of taxation as other bonds.

Mr. Thayer (Pa.) moved to lay the resolution on the table, and Mr. Ross called for the yeas and nays, but the House refused to order the yeas and nays, and the resolution was laid on the table.

Mr. Baker (Ill.) offered the following:—

Resolved, That the Committee on Banking and Currency be instructed to report a bill preventing, for some temporary-period, the further withdrawal of he gal-tender currency.

Mr. Washburne (Ill.) suggested that the resolution should be modified so as to direct the Committee simply to inquire into the expediency of reporting such a bill.

Mr. Morrill (Vt.) moved to lay the resolution on

The question was taken by year and nays, and resulted—yeas, 88; nays, 98. So the resolution was laid on the table.
